

Change to senior management team at Port of Tauranga

Port of Tauranga (NZX:POT) announced today that GM Corporate Services, Melanie Dyer, will be leaving the company in June.

Mel has been with Port of Tauranga for almost six years. She is taking up a new role as Chief People Officer with Craigs Investment Partners in Tauranga.

Port of Tauranga Chief Executive, Leonard Sampson, said Mel had built a strong team over her time at the Port. "Mel's expertise in leadership and organisational development have helped grow the Port and her wide-ranging HR experience has been invaluable as we have negotiated the challenges from Covid and recession in the past few years," he said. "We wish her all the best as she embraces the challenge of a new role in a new industry."

Recruitment will begin shortly for a new GM Corporate Services.
