TradeWindow appoints Dewald van Rensburg CEO

Trade Window Holdings Limited (NZX/ASX: TWL), a global trade software company, today announces the appointment of Dewald van Rensburg as Chief Executive Officer.

Dewald has been serving as Acting Chief Executive Officer since April after the resignation of Mr AJ Smith. Prior to this, Mr van Rensburg was TradeWindow's Chief Operating Officer, a role he occupied from 2022. He has more than 20 years of corporate and commercial experience.

TradeWindow Chair Alasdair MacLeod said: "As a Board we are delighted to confirm Dewald as Chief Executive. He has assumed the acting role with ease and has delivered strong and steady leadership and demonstrated a clear understanding of the business, its people, customers, shareholders and strategic priorities."

Mr van Rensburg said: "I am thrilled with the appointment. TradeWindow is building a fast growing and resilient business. We are thriving because our shipping and freight forwarding customers recognise the security and strength of our systems and our flexibility and our commitment to driving productivity in their operations.

"My focus will be on staying true to that reputation, supporting our people, and continuing to strengthen our relationships with customers and partners, and creating long-term value for shareholders. Having worked closely with the Board and leadership team I am excited about the opportunities open to the company and I am confident in our ability to realise them."
